J STATE TO ACT ON CHARGES OF

Bill at Albany Empowers Full Investigation by Committee.

The "jury-fixing" case has reached the attention of the legislators at Albany. A bill providing for the appointment by the Governor of three commissioners to investigate charges of jury-bribing and jury-fixing by attorneys and employers of railroad companies and by court officials in New York was introduced last night by Assemblyman Bernstein.

"If jurors are being bribed in the interests of railroad companies the peo-ple should know about it," said Mr. Bernstein. "It's a serious matter and demands a thorough investigation. One way to get at the facts is through a commission having all the powers of a

No "Railroading" for McCabe.

The guilt of Lawyer McCabe remains to be proven. He is a prematurely gray young man of the clean-cut type in appearance. He nas a good tailor and powerful friends. He takes his arrest as a mere incident in the course of a busy life. After his arraignment he returned to his office in the Park Row Building. Later he went to his handsome residence in West Eighty-ninth street. He is only a spoke in a big wheel, and he knows it. His step was light as he walked to business to-day. Tillinghast was only a poor tool. He had no influential friends. His grafting he admitted. He wears ready-made clothing. Although he is a civil-war veteran, he was excited from his basement warms in West Theories and state of the state of t cotting. nuch. He was dangerous.

In the person of Assistant District-Attorney Charlos C. Nout. Mr. Jerome is now represented on the side of the people against hie Metropolitan Street Railway Company. Mr. Nott could have demanded heavy ball in the case of Lawyer McCabe. The specific charge was bribing a juror, a felony punishable by imprisonment for a term of not more than ten years or a $5,000 fine, or both. Mr. Nott also appeared on the side of the poople against Robert Spriggs, a negro of the Tenderloin, against whom a multitude of vague charges have been made, and $5,000 ball was demanded for the negro.

Fears for Julian.

L. E. Juian, tormer chief investigator for the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, and the complaining witness against Lawyer McCabe, supported by the confessions of Tillinghast and Stanley S. Bragg, the latter a Metropolitan investigator, has not yet been "railroaded" to Blackwell's island Fealtentiary. Like the sword of Damocles, the minor charge of giving false and libelious statements to a newspaper, will hang over his head until Thursday. His attorney scents an indication on the part of the Metropolitan to back down.

Lawyer McCabe will be given a hearing a week from next Monday, before Judge Scabury.

Mean time "Pardon Tillinghast" petitions are pouring into the office of The Evening World and overflowing into the mail of Gov. Higgins, at the State Capital. Many letters commending the stand taken by The Evening World accompany the netitions.

"I came very near voting for Jerome." writes C. E. Bepus, of No. 342 West Eighteenth street, "and now I am design that I did not. I am convinced Jerome only convicts small fry or the poor and friendless."

P. R. Lehart, of No. 64 West One Hundredth street, says; "Your work in the Tillinghast case is worthy of the cooperation of all good clizens."

He has been ill for several month, and it was believed that he sought death by a believed the manager of the Post-Office that he was attending his mother. He made no complaint to her and was cheerful when she left him to retire.

When she arose this morning she found a gas tube attached to the parlor. The parlor door was closed as far as possible to leave room for the tube, and the crevice was packed with lier dresses. Other windows and the parlor, the windows and the treesses. Other windows and the hall door were made airtight by her garments. Young Banks lay fully dressed in the middle of the floor with a pillow under his head and the tube in his mouth. He was barely alive, but efforts of Dr. Neuwelt, of Washington to consciousness were futile.

Mrs. Banks was prostrated. He was her only child and had been her sole support for several years.

Comptroller said:

"Oh, Mr. Dunne no longer controls the advertising of the B. R. T."

"Do you think that is the reason for the continued attacks by the Borough administration?"

"You can draw your own conclusions," was the reply.

The Comptroller would not make a positive statement that the reason the Brooklyn and Coney Island road had been overlooked was because Mr. Dunne or somebody near to him controlled its advertising. He added, however, that he thought it very strange that it nad not received the same orders as the B. R. T.

The Brooklyn and Coney Island Company is owned by the Equitable Life Insurance Society and is one of the best paying properties in the country. Mr. Dunne at one time controlled the advertising patronage of the B. R. T., but this year he gave it up.
